

LEGENDARY ROCK N ROLL

Ivory, regarded as South Dakota's true supergroup with a lineup featuring the top performers from many of the Midwest's best bands, toured extensively as a full-time entity for over 13 years from 1975 through 1988.

Originating in the Black Hills; recording in Denver, Minneapolis and LA; touring with a host of well-known national recording artists and subsequently playing as far away as Washington, DC, Ivory raised the bar for live performance bands with their myriad of technical and stage innovations.

Touring in semi trucks that hauled around their massive sound and light system and renowned jungle stage set, Ivory, together with their professional tech crew, created the sight and sound experience for the record-setting sell-out crowds the band was famous for.

Still performing 28 years later, Ivory's current band features the same lineup of musicians from the mid-80's and plays select special events and concerts throughout the entire United States.
